There is no one thing that does more real hard down boosting and pushing for a country or helps more to build it up than a good, live set of real estate agents. We have been through the West, to California, and other states, and remained there not for a day or to pass through, but for months, mixing and mingling with the people in a business way, and we have learned that in being up-to-date and progressive, the West is far ahead of the East, and especially the far West but even as far east as Oklahoma there is a spirit of thrift and progress that is in advance of the East. Eastern people generally do not know this; they do not know that nice towns and whole communities are built up and settled in as many months as it takes years in the East. And it is largely brought about by live, progressive, wide-awake real estate men, who take advantage of the opportunities offered them and go to work with a vim to do something.

Such a firm was organized this week in Hayti, when G. W. Dorris, F. M. Perkins and Bayless L. Guffy, organized under the style of the Hayti Real Estate Company. They are home people, acquainted with the country and its needs, and if given the right kind of support and encouragement they will do good for our town and country. They will handle all kinds of real estate, farms and timbered lands, city and town property, and attend to renting and paying taxes and caring for property intrusted to them. We extend this new company a hearty welcome and hope the people will co-operate with them in their undertaking, feeling assured that nothing but good results can follow.

J. N. Maxwell, the great and only Newt, was up from Covington Saturday night, and as the train arrived too late for lodge we had the pleasure of associating with a good and true friend for awhile. After getting off some of his latest deer, wolf, wildcat and panther adventures (Newt is a great hunter and a crack shot) he told us about an experience he had with his potato patch during the dry season last year that shows what Pemiscot county soil will produce. One day during the dry season when he went to haul a barrel of water by the patch the ground was so rich and producing such thrifty potatoes and they wanted water so bad, that the vines came out over the fence after that water, entirely blockaded the wagon, turned the barrel off, and it took him three hours to untangle the team.

LOOK HERE

We have now entered into the New Year and must devote our attention and thoughts as to how we can make the best of opportunities as they are presented.

Of Course the majority will farm; it will be BLUNT'S PLOWS that they want. Some will do railroad work and must have good shoes, so it will be the W. L. DOUGLAS Brand that they want.

Sure we must all eat, so it is Aver-ill's GROCERIES that we want, so I will ask you to observe closely and it will be easy for you to ascertain the right place to trade.
